

Course Title	Confident Communicator: Practice Public Speaking While Having Fun!
Grade Level	4th - 8th
Tutor's Name	Marcy Szostak
Tutor's E-mail	marcy.szostak@gmail.com

Class Description

Welcome to Public Speaking Class! Wait?! Did you say Public Speaking?! I did, and it's going to be a fun, interactive adventure for your students to learn how to be able to a speak to room of people! Every week the first 20 minutes of class will consist of the student receiving a LEGO building prompt and time to build. During the remainder of class they will get to present their creation to the class and tell us all about it. Time for questions and positive comments from their classmates will help both the audience with listening skills as well as the presenter to practice eye contact in front of others. We will discuss different tricks of the trade of a comfortable speaker over the weeks as well. No need to worry about standing up front alone because I am more than happy to be your helper when learning how to be a Confident Communicator. I'm looking forward to a fun session together! See you soon!

Text/Materials

A ziplock bag of LEGOS from home to build with. Just grab a couple of handfuls, stick them in a bag, zip it up, and bring to class ready to build! A bonus is that you get to carefully bring your creation home each week to show your family and practice your new skills learned in class!
